

Cool Running

Skora's new minimalist running shoes offer maximum style for athletes on the go. A curved outsole and close fit follow the principles of barefoot running, and smart stitchdown construction eliminates potentially irritating interior seams. At the same time, these lightweight, easy-to-pack trainers double as daily-wear sneakers, thanks to sophisticated design and a classic color palette. The Skora Base ($110) features a stretchy mesh frame and an adjustable cross-strap closure that suits wider feet, while the lace-up Form ($185) wraps durable, breathable Pittards leather around a soft sheepskin lining. New Skora styles for men and women will debut in the spring. www.skorarunning.com —RENEE BRINCKS
